Best Execution and Order Handling Policy

Introduction

The Best Execution and Order Execution Policy of 7Q Financial Services Ltd is in accordance with the demands of the “Investment Services and Activities and Regulated Markets Law of 2017” (the “Law”), pursuant to the European Directive MiFID II – Market in Financial Instruments Directive. MiFID II is the European Parliament’s and Council’s Directive 2014/65/EU and amending Directive 2002/92/EC and Directive 2011/61/EU (recast)”, as last amended by Directive (EU) 2016/1034 of the European Parliament and of the Council, of 23 June 2016, on markets in financial instruments.

The Board of Directors (the “Board”) of the Company is responsible for ensuring that an appropriate Best Execution and Order Handling Policy (hereinafter called “the Policy”) is in place that defines specific terms, conditions and methodologies concerning the obligations of the Company to execute its clients’ orders to trade. This Policy is approved by the Board and is reviewed annually or more frequently if required because of changes of circumstances.

The Company’s Obligation for Best Execution

Best execution requires investment firms to provide the most advantageous order execution for their clients given the prevailing market environment. Best execution is a practice which encompasses several key characteristics that investment firms must examine and document when choosing how to route orders for execution, to prove that "reasonable diligence" was carried out before choosing how to route such orders for execution. The Company’s obligation is take all sufficient steps, to obtain, the best possible result for the clients on a consistent basis, when executing, placing orders with or receiving and transmitting orders of clients to other entities, such as brokers, for transaction in financial instruments and when executing orders on behalf of clients in the context of portfolio management. In undertaking its regulatory duty, the Company will, take into account factors including the price, costs, speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, size, nature or any other consideration relevant to the execution of the order.

Aim of the Best Execution and Order Execution Policy

The purpose of this Policy is to define all the reasonable steps to obtain the best possible results for the Company’s Retail and Professional Clients when receiving and transmitting their orders to trade. The Company must have in place a policy and adequate procedures to provide the best balance across a range of factors that may conflict, and to obtain the best possible execution result for its Clients, subject to and considering the nature of its clients and their orders, and the financial products and execution venues in question. The Company follows its Best Execution and Order Handling Policy when it executes orders or receives and transmits orders for execution to third parties, on behalf of its Retail Clients or Professional Clients, as well as when it places orders with other entities for execution that result from the Company’s decisions to deal in financial instruments while providing the service of portfolio management to its Retail Clients or Professional Clients. The Company will always apply the principles of Best Execution where required under applicable law, unless specific instructions received from a Client restrict the Company’s ability to apply the principles fully. Where there are specific instructions from the Client, the Company will execute the order following those specific instructions.

Best Execution and Order Handling Policy

In case a Client has been categorised as an Eligible Counterparty, and although this Policy does not apply to Eligible Counterparties, the Company will act honestly, fairly and professionally in the course of its business relationship with the client, and it will communicate in a way which is fair, clear and not misleading, taking into account the specific nature of the Client and of the Company's business.

General Principles

7Q Financial Services Ltd may route a Client's order either at an execution venue in which the Company is a member or participant, or in case it is not, through another entity which is a member or participant and has access to the specific execution venue. In the case of collaboration with other entities that have access to specific execution venues, the Company takes all sufficient measures (in respect of each class of financial instruments) to make sure that those entities have execution arrangements which enable the Company to comply with its obligations, and achieve the best possible result based on this Policy. Upon reasonable request, the Company shall provide its clients or potential clients with information about the entities where the orders are transmitted or placed for execution.

Where the Company collaborates with other entities to provide order execution services, it summarises and makes public, on an annual basis, and for each class of financial instruments, the top five entities (in terms of trading volumes) to which the Company transmitted or placed client orders for execution in the preceding year, along with information on the quality of execution obtained.

Where the Company applies different fees depending on the execution venue, the Company shall explain these differences in sufficient detail to allow the client to understand the advantages and the disadvantages of the choice of a single execution venue.

Where a client makes reasonable and proportionate requests for information about the Company's Best Execution and Order Handling Policy and how this is reviewed, the Company shall answer clearly and within a reasonable time.

Where the Company uses a single execution venue, it regularly assesses the market landscape to determine whether there are alternative venues that it could use. The Company bases its assessment on relevant data sources about information on trading conditions and quality of execution across different execution venues.

The Company shall only receive third-party payments that comply with Article 24(9) of Directive 2014/65/EU and shall inform clients about any inducements that the Company may receive from the execution venues. The Company shall not receive any remuneration, discount or non-monetary benefit for routing client orders to an execution venue which would infringe the requirements on conflicts of interest or inducements.

Handling and Execution of Client Orders

The Company shall always fulfil the following conditions when carrying out client orders:

1. ensure that orders executed on behalf of clients are promptly and accurately recorded and allocated;

2. carry out otherwise comparable client orders sequentially and promptly unless the characteristics of the order or prevailing market conditions make this impracticable, or the interests of the client require otherwise; and
3. inform a retail client about any material difficulty relevant to the proper carrying out of orders promptly upon becoming aware of the difficulty.

The Company implements procedures and arrangements which provide for the prompt, fair and expeditious execution of client orders relative to its other client orders. These procedures or arrangements allow for the execution of otherwise comparable client orders in accordance with the time of their reception by the Company.

In the case of a client limit order in respect of shares admitted to trading on a regulated market or traded on a trading venue which are not immediately executed under prevailing market conditions, the Company must, unless the client expressly instructs otherwise, take measures to facilitate the earliest possible execution of that order by making public immediately that client limit order in a manner which is easily accessible to other market participants.

The Company has established an order allocation policy to ensure the fair allocation of aggregated orders. Aggregated orders are allocated to individual clients using either the price paid for a single transaction or at a volume weighted average of the prices achieved following a series of transactions. In the event of an aggregated order being partially filled, client allocation will occur on a reduced pro-rata basis, unless allocation becomes uneconomic for the client.

Execution Factors and Criteria

The Company considers the following factors and criteria to achieve the best possible result for its Clients.

- Execution Factors

The following factors are considered when executing or transmitting orders on behalf of Clients:

- (i) the price of the financial instrument;
- (ii) the costs related to the execution (i.e. execution venue fees, settlement fees and any other fees paid to third parties involved in the execution of the order);
- (iii) the speed of execution;
- (iv) the likelihood of execution and its settlement;
- (v) the size of the order;
- (vi) the type of the financial instrument including whether it is executed on a Regulated Market, Multilateral Trading Facility (MTF), or over the counter (OTC);
- (vii) the Client's instructions for the execution of the order; and
- (viii) any other consideration relevant to the execution of the order at the Company's discretion, e.g. prevailing market conditions, the availability of price improvement the opportunity of an order to be executed at a better price that way is currently quoted publicly.

The Company may take into account, at its discretion, additional other factors, such as market conditions, considered at the time relevant for the execution.

- Execution Criteria

The following criteria are considered in order to determine the relative importance of each execution factor referred to above:

- (i) the Client's categorisation;
- (ii) the characteristics of the Client order;
- (iii) the type of the financial instrument being the subject of the order; and
- (iv) the characteristics of the execution venues to which the order can be directed.

The abovementioned list shall not be considered as an assessment of the relative ranking of the factors. Instead, the abovementioned factors are evaluated for each client order, each factor receiving a different weighting. While price and costs will ordinarily receive a higher relative weight in obtaining the best possible execution result, the overall value to a client may be affected by the other factors listed above.

Importance of Execution Factors in relation to Client Categorisation

Obtaining the best possible result requires prioritising different execution factors relevant to the specific order of the Client. Outcomes for Clients may vary depending on the prioritisation of execution factors in applying the primary principle.

1. Retail Clients

When executing or transmitting on behalf of a Retail Client, the best possible result is determined in terms of:

- (i) the Total Consideration, which represents the Financial Instrument price and all costs related to the execution;
- (ii) the speed of the execution;
- (iii) the characteristics of the order and of the underlying Financial Instrument; and
- (iv) the correctness of the execution.

2. Professional Clients

When providing Professional Clients with best execution the Company is not required to prioritise the overall costs of the transaction as being the most important factor in achieving best execution. However, the Company considers that the most important execution factor for its Professional Clients is also the Total Consideration (as defined above). However, there may be circumstances where the primary execution factors may vary and price is no longer the dominant execution factor; for example, for transactions in illiquid securities, likelihood of execution and market impact become more important. The importance of these factors and how they are treated may vary depending on the characteristics of the order, the type of the financial instrument which is the subject of the order and the characteristics of the execution venues to which the order can be directed.

The Company cannot guarantee that it will be always possible to execute an order at the best price available due to market conditions and liquidity of the market, but the Company will always strive to execute an order in accordance with this Policy.

Execution Venues

Based on the methodology outlined above, the execution venue chosen for an order is that place where the best possible result upon execution of the client order may be achieved. The European Market in Financial Instruments Directive (MiFID II) defines the following execution venues:

- Regulated markets in the European Economic Area;
- Multilateral Trading Facilities (MTF);
- Organised Trading Facilities (OTF);
- Systematic Internalisers (SI);
- Other liquidity providers or entities in a third country which perform a function similar to the functions performed by any of the foregoing (including markets and exchanges outside the European Economic Area).

For delivering the best possible results to its Clients, where there is more than one competing venue to execute an order for a financial instrument, the Company shall assess and compare the results that would have been achieved by executing the order on each of the execution venues (which can execute that order) listed in the Company's Best Execution and Order Handling Policy. The Company's own commissions and the costs for executing the order on each of the eligible execution venues shall be considered in that assessment. The Company, following execution of a transaction on behalf of a client, must inform the client where the order was executed.

Below is an indicative list of the execution venues on which 7Q Financial Services Ltd primarily relies (either as a member or through another entity). 7Q Financial Services Ltd reserves the right to amend the list of execution venues when and as it considers it necessary for obtaining the best possible result for its clients.

In case of extraordinary and/or unforeseen circumstances (such as computer system failure, system unavailability at a specific execution venue, etc.) which do not permit 7Q Financial Services Ltd to execute orders as per its Best Execution and Order Handling Policy, the Company will execute orders in the most reasonable manner taking into account those factors which render compliance with its policy impossible.

Execution of orders over-the-counter (OTC)

The Company may execute or accept instructions to execute orders in financial instruments traded over the counter (OTC). A financial instrument or a transaction is an

OTC product or transaction when it is:

- (a) not admitted to trading; or
- (b) not traded on a trading venue (i.e. a Regulated Market, an MTF or OTF); or
- (c) trading on a trading venue but transacted on OTC.

When executing orders or taking the decision to deal in OTC products including bespoke products, the Company checks the fairness of the price proposed to the Client when executing orders or taking decisions to deal in OTC products, by gathering market data used in the estimation of the price of such products and, where possible, by comparing with similar or comparable products.

While execution of order over the counter may provide an improved execution price and faster execution, the Client shall take into consideration of additional risks may be incurred including (but not limited to):

- (a) A settlement risk may be incurred as transactions will be subject to counterparty risk and will not be covered by the relevant clearing and settlement rules of a Regulated Market or MTF or OTF and relevant central counterparty clearing house;

(b) Transactions are not be subject to the rules of Regulated Market or MTF or OTF, which are designed to provide for a fair and orderly treatment of orders.

Consent for OTC transactions

If the possibility for the execution of an order at over the counter exists, the Company will notify the Client of such possibility. However, before proceeding to execute any order for transactions outside a Regulated Market or MTF or OTF such as OTC, the prior express client consent should be received. This consent may be in the form of a general agreement or in respect of individual transactions. Upon signing the Investment Services Agreement with the Company, the Client will be deemed to have expressly given his consent to the Company for the execution of orders in financial instruments outside Regulated Market or MTF or OTF such as in OTC.

Reception and Transmission of Orders

The Company will generally place or transmit orders on behalf of its Clients via third-party Brokers and Counterparties/ Intermediaries for execution. The choice of Brokers or Counterparties has a direct impact on price and cost of the execution, thus on Total Consideration.

For the selection of brokers and counterparties, the Company applies a due diligence procedure which considers a number of criteria including assessment of:

- (a) the financial soundness of the broker and counterparty;
- (b) the access to execution venues or other brokers and counterparties; and
- (c) the reliability of execution and settlement process.

The Company ensures that the best execution policies and practices of its associates Brokers or Counterparties are compliant with the best execution requirements under MiFID II. In addition, the Company regularly monitors and evaluates the quality of services provided by the third-party associates during the term of their cooperation.

The Company is considered to have taken all sufficient steps so as to obtain the best possible result for its Clients, to the extent that it follows specific instructions from its clients, when placing an order with, or transmitting an order to a third party for execution. In this case, the Company is not required to take any additional measures.

The list of the Company's Brokers and Counterparties/ Intermediaries may be updated, if considered necessary, following such assessment, and any changes or updates are posted in the Execution Quality Summary Statement (RTS 28) which is posted on the Company's website And is also available to Clients in hardcopy.

Exceptions and Limitations to Best Execution

The following cases are exempted from the obligation of the Company to execute orders on terms most favourable to its Clients

1. the Client has been categorised as an Eligible Counterparty; or
2. the Company executes an order or a part of that order, following specific instructions from a Client which relate to that order or part thereof; or
3. the Client posts an order via a Direct Electronic Access (DEA) system.

In certain circumstances there is limited scope for the Company to execute orders on terms most favourable to its Clients, such as:

- (a) Single venue transactions - The nature of a transaction may result in there being only one venue of execution and therefore the only pricing consideration is time of execution. It therefore precludes the use of comparable prices and the delivery of Best Execution.
- (b) Online trading system - Where the Client requests and get access to prices displayed on an Online Trading System and the Client decides to deal at the prices displayed, the Client is responsible for achieving his own Best Execution.
- (c) Client specific instructions - Any specific instruction of the Client may prevent the Company from taking the steps that it has designed and implemented in its Policy to obtain the best possible result for the execution of those orders. When the Client's instructions relate to a part of the order, the Company applies its Policy in respect of the elements that are not covered by such instructions. It follows that when a Retail or Professional Client does not provide the Company with any specific instructions, the Company will exercise its own discretion regarding the order always in accordance with this Policy. The receipt of specific instruction may affect the relative importance assigned to the various execution factors and prevent the Company from taking the steps it has designed and implemented to obtain best execution in respect of the elements covered by such instructions.

Under certain circumstances the Company may be unable to fulfil its Best Execution obligations in full. However, irrespective of these circumstances the Company will make every effort to continue to act honestly, fairly, professionally and communicate in a way that is fair, clear and not misleading. In case of manual execution, the Company should notify the Client of these special circumstances and has to receive an explicit instruction to proceed with the execution of the order. Such circumstances, not exhaustively, are noted herein below:

- (a) Extreme market conditions - During extremely volatile markets an order may be executed at a price substantially different from the quoted best bid or offer or an order may be executed only partially. In the case of a market disruption event, orders may be treated by the market as though the Company is acting as an agent with discretion. In extreme market situations trading system constraints may require automated trading systems to be suspended. Such events may lead to execution delays and increased price volatility. If the Company is aware of such circumstances, it will notify its Clients prior to executing or transmitting their orders. Once the Client has agreed to proceed with its order, the most important execution factor becomes executing orders in time.

Best Execution and Order Handling Policy

- (b) Illiquid markets - In case of less actively traded financial instruments, the Company may not be able to execute orders with the best possible result. Such situations can occur, for example, when supply and/or demand is limited for a given financial instrument, when the determination of price is not fully transparent and when there are abrupt changes in market prices.

- (c) Extraordinary and/or unforeseen circumstances - In case of extraordinary and/or unforeseen circumstances (such as computer system failure, system unavailability at a specific execution venue) which do not permit the Company to execute orders on terms most favourable to the client and in line with this Policy, the Company will execute orders in the most reasonable manner taking into account those factors which render compliance with its policy impossible.

Introduction

The Client Categorisation Policy of 7Q Financial Services Ltd is in accordance with the demands of the “Investment Services and Activities and Regulated Markets Law of 2017” (the “Law”), pursuant to the European Directive MiFID II – Market in Financial Instruments Directive. MiFID II is the European Parliament’s and Council’s Directive 2014/65/EU and amending Directive 2002/92/EC and Directive 2011/61/EU (recast)”, as last amended by Directive (EU) 2016/1034 of the European Parliament and of the Council, of 23 June 2016, on markets in financial instruments.

The Board of Directors (the “Board”) of the Company is responsible for ensuring that an appropriate Client Categorisation Policy is in place that defines specific terms, conditions and methodologies concerning the obligations of the Company to assign a regulatory category to its clients. 7Q Financial Services Ltd has categorised its clients as: a) Retail Clients, b) Professional Clients and c) Eligible Counterparties, based on the information it has about them. This Client Categorisation Policy is approved by the Board and is reviewed annually or more frequently if required because of changes of circumstances.

Aim of the Client Categorisation Policy

The purpose of this Client Categorisation Policy is to assign a regulatory category to clients in accordance with the demands of the Law. The Company must have in place a policy in order to determine the different treatment per client category, primarily relating to (a) the information provided to clients, (b) assessment of the appropriateness and suitability of the investment services & financial instruments for the specific client, (c) notices sent to the client about investment services & financial instruments offered to him, and (d) the way in which the obligation to execute clients orders on terms most favourable to them is discharged.

General Principles

When the Company provides investment services, such services are provided on an independent basis, where the Company undertakes a broad analysis of the different types of financial instruments available on the market, sufficiently diverse regarding their type and issuers, in order to ensure that the investment objectives of clients can be suitably and appropriately met, without limitation to financial instruments that are issued or provided by entities having close links with the Company. In addition, the Company assigns a regulatory category to its clients, so that it can determine the correct client treatment during the provision of investment services, in accordance with the demands of the Law.

Client Categories

‘Retail Client’ is a client who is not a Professional Client or an Eligible Counterparty.

‘Professional Client’ is a client who possesses the experience, knowledge and expertise to make his own investment decisions and properly assess any inherent risks. The classification of a client as Professional Client applies to all investment services and activities and financial instruments. Further, Professional Clients are determined in two categories, per se Professional Clients and elective Professional Clients.

According to the legislation, per se Professional Clients are considered:

(a) Entities which are required to be authorised or regulated to operate in the financial markets (including entities authorised by a Member State under a Directive, entities authorised or regulated by a Member State without reference to a Directive and entities authorised or regulated by a non-Member State), such as:

- credit institutions;
- investment firms;
- other authorised or regulated financial institutions;
- insurance companies;
- collective investment schemes and management companies of such schemes;
- pension funds and management companies of such funds;
- commodity and commodity derivatives dealers;
- locals;
- other institutional investors.

(b) Large undertakings which satisfy at least two of the following size requirements on a company basis:

- balance sheet total of at least EUR 20m;
- net turnover of at least EUR 40m;
- own funds of at least EUR 2m.

(c) National and regional governments, public bodies that manage public debt, Central Banks, international and supranational institutions, and similar international organisations. Local public authorities and municipalities which do not manage public debt, will be treated as Retail Clients by default, unless the Company is permitted to treat them as elective Professional Clients (as defined below).

(d) Other institutional investors whose main activity is to invest in financial instruments, including entities dedicated to the securitisation of assets or other financing transactions.

The Company may treat a client, including local public authority or municipality that do not manage public debt, as an elective professional client if it complies with (1), (2) and (3), below:

(a) The 'Qualitative Test' requires the Company to undertake an adequate assessment of the expertise, experience and knowledge of the client that gives reasonable assurance, considering the nature of the transactions or services envisaged, that the client is capable of making his own investment decisions and understanding the risks involved.

(b) The 'Quantitative Test' requires the Company to assess whether the client satisfies at least two of the following criteria:

- the client has carried out transactions, in significant size, on the relevant market at an average frequency of 10 per quarter over the previous four quarters;
- the size of the client's financial instrument portfolio, defined as including cash deposits and financial instruments, exceeds EUR 500,000;
- the client works or has worked in the financial sector for at least one year in a professional position, which requires knowledge of the transactions or services envisaged.

(c) The following procedure must be followed:

- the client must state in writing to the firm that it wishes to be treated as a professional client either generally or in respect of a particular service or transaction or type of transaction or product;
- the firm must give the client a clear written warning of the protections and investor compensation rights the client may lose;
- the client must state in writing, that it is aware of the consequences of losing such protections.

'Eligible Counterparty' is any of the following entities to which the Company provides the investment service of reception and transmission of orders only.

- investment firms;
- credit institutions;
- insurance companies;
- collective investment schemes and management companies of such schemes;
- pension funds and management companies of such funds;
- other financial institutions authorised and regulated under European legislation or national law of a Member State;
- national governments, including public bodies that manage public debt, Central Banks, and supranational institutions.

The Company shall perform a periodic assessment of the client categorisation at least annually, or when market conditions and/or client preferences, objectives and other characteristics indicate that a more frequent assessment is required.

Client Protection

The level of protection afforded per client classification relates mainly to the following:

- A. the information communicated to the client;
- B. the assessment of appropriateness and suitability of the investment service/financial instrument provided to the client;

- C. the reports sent to the client regarding the investment service or financial instrument offered;
- D. the manner in which execution of orders is performed achieving the best possible result for the client; and
- E. the Investor Compensation Fund protection.

As noted above a Retail Client benefits from the highest level of protection when compared to a Professional Client. By definition, Eligible Counterparties receive the lowest level of client protection.

When the Company classifies a Client as a Retail Client, it will offer him the highest level of protection, in accordance with the demands of the “Investment Services and Activities and Regulated Markets Law of 2017” (the “Law”), pursuant to the European Directive MiFID II – Market in Financial Instruments Directive. The context of the protection and information provided to a Retail Client is summarised below:

- In cases where the Company provides Services other than Investment Advice or Discretionary Portfolio Management, the Company will ask the Retail Client to provide information regarding his knowledge and experience in the investment field relevant to the specific type of product or service offered or demanded (Appropriateness Test). The Company requires this information in order to assess whether the investment services and financial instruments envisaged are appropriate for the client. In case, on the basis of the information received, the product or service is deemed as not appropriate for the Retail Client, the Company will warn the client accordingly. Please note that the Company is not required to assess appropriateness of financial instruments in certain cases as specified by applicable laws and definitions.
- The Company is a member of the Investor Compensation Fund (hereinafter the “ICF”), established pursuant to the relevant legislation and which operates in accordance with the Investor Compensation Fund Directive. The objective of the ICF is to secure the claims of covered and eligible clients against its members, by paying compensation for claims deriving from the investment services provided, in case of inability of a member of the ICF to pay such compensation. The payment of compensation is subject to the fulfillment of at least one of the following pre-conditions: (a) The CySEC has determined by Resolution that a member of the ICF is unable to meet its duties arising from its investor-clients claim in connection with the provision of investment services or the ancillary service of safeguarding of clients financial instruments or (b) a court has issued a ruling which has the effect of suspending the investors ability to lodge claims against the said member. The amount of compensation shall be up to a maximum amount of twenty thousand Euro (€20,000) and this amount applies to the total amount of an investor toward a member of the ICF, irrespective of the number of accounts, currency and place of provision of the service. The ICF does not compensate Professional Clients (either Per Se or Elective) and Eligible Counterparties.
- When executing orders on behalf of a Retail Client, the best possible result shall be determined in terms of the total consideration, representing the price of the Financial Instrument and the costs related to execution, which shall include all expenses incurred by the Retail Client and which are directly related to the execution of the order. The Company must take all reasonable steps to achieve Best Execution of the client’s orders, as described in detail in the Best Execution and Order Execution Policy of the Company. The Company is obliged to inform Retail Clients of material difficulties relevant to the proper carrying out of their order(s) promptly upon becoming aware of the difficulty.

- A Retail Client will be given more information with regards to the Services and Financial Instruments offered costs, commissions, fees, charges and the services of safekeeping of client's financial instruments and funds.

When the Company classifies a Client as a Professional Client, it will offer him a lower level of protection when compared to a Retail Client, in accordance with the demands of the "Investment Services and Activities and Regulated Markets Law of 2017" (the "Law"), pursuant to the European Directive MiFID II – Market in Financial Instruments Directive. The context of the protection and information provided to a Professional Client is summarised below:

- The Company is entitled to assume, according to the applicable laws and definitions, that a Professional Client has the necessary knowledge and experience to properly assess or manage the risks involved with the investment services and financial instruments offered by the Company (Appropriateness Test). Consequently, and unlike the situation with a Retail Client, the Company will not generally need to obtain additional information from the Professional Client for the purposes of the assessment of appropriateness for those investment services and financial instruments offered by the Company, and for which a client has been categorised as a Professional Client.
- When executing orders on behalf of a Professional Client, the Company is not required to prioritise the overall costs of the transaction as being the most important factor in achieving Best Execution for them. However, the Company considers Total Consideration to be the most important execution factor for its Professional Clients. Whereas the Company cannot guarantee that it will be always possible to execute an order at the best price available due to market conditions and liquidity of the market, the Company will always take all the reasonable steps to achieve execution of its client's orders as described in detail in the Best Execution and Order Execution Policy of the Company.

When the Company classifies a Client as an Eligible Counterparty, it will offer him the level of protection in accordance with the demands of the "Investment Services and Activities and Regulated Markets Law of 2017" (the "Law"), pursuant to the European Directive MiFID II – Market in Financial Instruments Directive. The context of the protection and information provided to a Retail Client is summarised below:

- When the Company classifies a Client as an Eligible Counterparty, its obligations regarding the information provided on the nature and risks of financial instruments, transactions reporting, assessment of appropriateness, best execution, transmission or placement of orders with other entities for execution, and inducements, shall not apply to that client in respect of the investment services/activities of reception and transmission of orders, execution of orders on behalf of clients, and/or any ancillary service directly related to such transactions.
- As regards the remaining of the Company's obligations, those shall apply to Eligible Counterparties only to the extent required by applicable law. Generally, in relation to business other than reception and transmission of orders, execution of orders on behalf of a client and/or any ancillary service directly related to such transactions, an Eligible Counterparty will receive the same treatment as Professional Clients unless such Eligible Counterparty requests to be reclassified and treated as a Retail Client, and the Company agrees to such request. Acceptance of such request is at the Company's discretion. In its relationship with eligible counterparties, the Company will act honestly, fairly and professionally and communicate in a way which is fair, clear and not misleading, taking into account the nature of the eligible counterparty and its business.

Changes in Client Categorisation

The Company's clients can request, in writing, to be assigned to a different client category than the one they have already been assigned to. Such requests are subject to the conditions and criteria, laid down by the Law, being met. A request for a change in categorisation may be submitted in the following circumstances:

(a) When a Retail Client requests treatment as a Professional Client the Company must assess the client's expertise, experience and knowledge, and the client must satisfy at least two of the following quantitative criteria:

- the client has carried out transactions, in significant size, on the relevant market at an average frequency of 10 per quarter over the previous four quarters;
- the size of the client's financial instrument portfolio, defined as including cash deposits and financial instruments, exceeds EUR 500,000;
- the client works or has worked in the financial sector for at least one year in a professional position which requires knowledge of the transactions or services envisaged.

The client must state in writing that he wishes to be treated as a Professional Client and the Company retains the right to accept or refuse the client's request.

(b) When a Professional Client requests treatment as a Retail Client the Company must determine if the client is unable to properly assess or manage the risks involved with the investment services and financial instruments offered by the Company. The Company and the client must enter into a written agreement confirming that the client will not be treated as a Professional Client and stating whether the retail classification relates to one or more particular investment services or transactions or one or more types of financial instruments or transactions.

(c) When an Eligible Counterparty requests treatment as a Professional or Retail Client, the client must state in writing that he wishes to be treated as a Professional or Retail Client, and the Company retains the right to accept or refuse the client's request.

Suitability and Appropriateness Assessment

In order to protect its clients, 7Q Financial Services Ltd performs an assessment as to whether the investment services and financial instruments it offers to them are suitable and appropriate for them and correspond to their needs and investment objectives. More specifically:

When providing investment advice or portfolio management services, the 'Suitability Test' is performed by the Company to assess whether the investment services or the associated financial instruments are suitable for a client (assessment of suitability).
